CUBS LEADING NATIONAL LOOP AS CARDS LOSE

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—UP—The Chicago Cubs extended their winning streak to 11 straight today, taking on 15 to 11, defeating the Brooklyn Dodgers in one of the wildest baseball games of the season.

Manager Casey Stengel paraded 21 players into the game, with seven pitchers doing mound duty.

LEAD BEAT
By their victory the Cubs moved into first place in the National League as the St. Louis Cardinals lost a close game to the New York Giants, 5-1.

The Cubs featured an 18-1 hit attack with an eight-run barrage in the sixth. Freddy Lindstrom did the heaviest damage with a triple and two doubles in half a dozen trips to the plate. Dizzy Harrell contributed three singles in four trips.

The Dodgers made 15 hits, with Buster Mills, who made his debut yesterday, closing in with a homer and a single. Jimmy Lauer also homered and added a single. Walker was given three to lead off, a total of 14 being distributed during the contest.

GIANTS LOSE
The New York-St. Louis game was an 11-inning affair. The Giants scored one run in the opening inning and the Cardinals responded in the last of that inning. In the 11th, seventh inning, the Cardinals relied and put over another run, to lead the ball game. However, in the last of the eighth the Giants scored again. Undaunted the St. Louis team scored its third run in the last of the eighth, only to have New York tie up the score again with another tally in the half of the ninth.

In the tenth inning, New York scored another, only to have the Cardinals come back and tie up the game again. In the first of the eleventh, the Giants put across the winning run.

TIGERS, YANKEES SPLIT
Schmeckler, Stutz, Smith and Coffey were on the mound for the Chicago White Sox, who beat the Cardinals, 7-5, in the remaining National League games.

Boston defeated Cincinnati, 6-3, and Philadelphia defeated Pittsburgh, 7-5, in the remaining National League games.

In the American League, the Detroit Tigers and the New York Yankees split a double-header, the Yankees winning the first by a score of 2 to 1 and losing the second, 1 to 3, in a game scattered late. Detroit won the second game, 5-1.

Chicago took a double header from the Philadelphia team, winning the first 1-2 and the second 2-1.

In the only other game played, the St. Louis Browns were defeated by Boston, 5-2.

Little Keeps Title By Defeating Emery

CLEVELAND, Sept. 14.—UP—Lawson Little's golfing saga of last season, which began with a loss to Walter Emery, was completed today when he won a 3-hole playoff over Emery, 1 and 2, in the final round of the American championship.

Little won Emery, 1 and 2, but he scored the victory only after coming from behind a three-hole advantage after the opening three holes were complete.

TRUE TOPICS
The San Francisco team, who had a 3-hole lead in the final round, were in the hole in the sixth, but they were able to pull out of it in the seventh.

EMERY WAS FURIOUS
There was nothing of that sort today. Emery, frankly, resented what he believed to be a patronizing attitude on the part of Little. He was turning at Lawson as they walked to the ninth tee.

LARGE GALLERY
About that time a waiter came along. "Bring me a couple of lettuce and a couple of sandwiches," Emery said. "Bring me a bottle of beer and a cup of coffee, too. And send in an aspirin tablet to Mister Little."

Acrimonious or not, the rivals gave the gallery a great show. The crowd totaled some 6,000, largest at a final of the National Amateur since 1920.

LOOKED LIKE RIT
There were raised eyebrows when Emery smashed his second shot four feet from the pin at the first hole and ran down the put for a birdie to go one up.

More of the same when Little trapped his second at the second hole and lost with a five to Emery's birdie three.

Then to look like a rout when Little wound up his tee shot and Emery's birdie three.

lost the hole with a five to Emery's par four, Lawson going three to two.

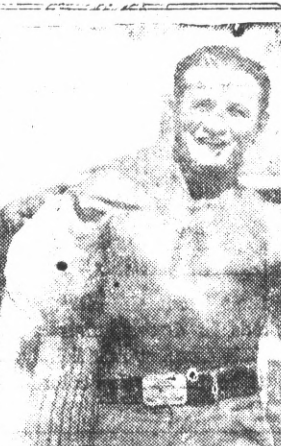

LITTLE NERVOUS
Little was plenty nervous. He managed a par four in the fourth hole, but he was one of the many points of the match at the short fifth, where Emery had sparked his tee shot into the green. Lawson is deep in a trap, shot in the green and played it.

Here he played his championship golf. He took out his frustration with a tee shot in the sand, and blasted out straight into the pin. He made his putt and won a half.

CUT MARGIN
Little cut the margin to two holes by sinking a great 30-foot putt at the sixth and made it one down by having Emery the victim on the eighth. They turned over the first time at the 12th where Emery three-putted. Lawson was never worse than even after that and they quit for lunch even at the 15th hole where Little's tee shot struck a tree and was saved from going into the rough. That put him one up and he was ahead from that point onward.

WINTER SCOUTS TO BE SOUGHT FOR JOE LOUIS

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—UP—Who will be the outcome of his bout with Max Baer at Yankee stadium September 21, Joe Louis will keep scouting the winter.

Joe Louis won't go into retirement to await a bout with James J. Braddock for the heavyweight title next summer and probably will engage in three or four bouts to keep at fighting condition.

Another reason the undefeated Negro heavyweight will keep in action is because his manager, John Roxborough and John Black, want to keep him from going into any kind of trouble.

LEISURE TIME FEARED
"He's a good boy all right," said Roxborough, "but we don't want any temptations placed in his path. If he keeps fighting, he'll all he thinks about and he won't have any chance to get into trouble. But he might have trouble killing time if we laid him off for six months. He wouldn't know what to do with himself and we think it would have a bad influence on him."

There is a possibility that Louis might go to Europe if successful against Baer. One opponent in mind for Louis is Paulino Uzcudun, the Basque woodchopper who has never been knocked out.

BARCELONA SITE MENTIONED
The newspaper at the University of California, were referred to Willet, University of Southern California professor by Dean D. M. Putnam, California's faculty athletic representative.

"I have not yet been officially informed of the matter," said Prof. Willet, "but my procedure in such a case undoubtedly would be to hear St. Mary's side at once."

St. Mary's non-Conference membership, agreed to abide by Conference rules, because she plays Conference teams, Prof. Willet explained.

It found guilty of violating the rules by stealing a head start on football practice, St. Mary's treatment would be an individual matter for the Conference referees, which play her, he said, and added:

"But they probably would not low whatever suggestion was made by the Conference as a whole."

Whatever decision he might reach in St. Mary's case, he would refer to the Conference and possibly the entire matter may again be the December meeting of the 10 Conference members in San Francisco, he said.

Resignation Of San Jose Okayed By Conference

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 14.—UP—The Far Western Conference voted unanimously tonight to accept San Jose State College resignation from the group.

The withdrawal was a result of conference opposition to the San Jose State plan of providing tuition and other expenses for its athletes, particularly its football players.

The conference, however, did not forbid its members from meeting San Jose State in competition. It was a fact that Conference members in St. Mary's case, he would refer to the Conference and possibly the entire matter may again be the December meeting of the 10 Conference members in San Francisco, he said.

ST. MARYS TO BE ASKED TO ANSWER CHARGE

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 14.—UP—Professor H. C. Willet, president of the Pacific Coast Conference and chairman of the committee on St. Mary's college charges that St. Mary's violated conference rules by providing tuition and other expenses for its athletes.

The charges, made by the editor of the Daily Californian, state that St. Mary's would draw a large gate in Berkeley, said Roxborough. "We wouldn't be afraid to go to St. Mary's in Berkeley. I guess he's tough all right, but we think Joe could handle him."

St. Mary's probably will engage in matches in Berkeley, Chicago, Los Angeles and one or two other midwestern cities, where he has never fought, during the winter.

"We won't try to hold up the promises of guaranteeing his guarantee for Louis," said Roxborough. "We will be satisfied with a fair percentage because we think Louis will prove a big drawing card wherever he appears."

"What if Louis loses?" Roxborough was asked.

SAVE PLAY, WIN OR LOSE
"I have heard Louis, we'll follow about the same plan," answered Roxborough. "We'll send Joe in against all contenders so he can battle his way back to the top again. There's plenty of talent around and Joe can fight about once a month."

Some of the heavyweights considered as possible opponents for Louis during the winter are Ford Smith, Ray Impeglione, Art Laskey, Walter Nessel, and Hank Hankinson.

HULL APOLOGY EXTENDED FOR NAZI INSULTS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—UP—Secretary of State Cordell Hull today accorded the German government official "satisfaction" for the Brodsky incident by a combined expression of regret and a verbal spanking for the New York magistrate who precipitated it.

State Department officials hoped this expression would close the incident. They also hoped that Hull's pointed remarks about "state and municipal officials having no responsibility for maintaining relations between the United States and other countries" going out at their way to make remarks that are offensive to other governments, would avert similar incidents in the near future.

MAGISTRATE SCORED

Hull said that the remarks which Magistrate Louis Brodsky made in connection with the dismissal of charges against a group of alleged Communists in connection with an attack upon the Nazi swastika banner aboard the German liner Bremen on July 27, were "most relevant or legitimate part of his judicial decision." He also said that the State Department was "constrained to feel that the magistrate was going out of his way adversely to criticize the German government."

Hull's apology—from it amounted to that—was delivered to Dr. Rudolf Lettner, Charge d'Affaires of the German Embassy in the absence of Ambassador Hans Luther, who is in Atlantic City for the weekend. It was in response to the protest which Luther lodged with Hull a week ago less than 48 hours after Brodsky had inferentially compared the German Swastika banner to "the black flag of piracy."

SECOND PROTEST

It was the second protest from Germany in the Bremen incident. The first was delivered by Ambassador Luther on July 30. It complained of the attack on the German flag, and requested that those guilty of the attack be punished.

Hull replied to that protest, expressing official regret that the attack had been made on the flag, but pointed out that the New York police had rendered every reasonable effort to protect the flag, and that a number of persons were then under arrest on charges growing from the attack. Hull also sent the German government an official copy of the New York police department's report of the incident, in which it was pointed out that the police had warned officials of the German steamship line of the danger of untoward incidents, and had requested that the gangplank of the vessel be closed to all but bona fide passengers. The officials of the line ignored this warning.

FREEDOM OF SPEECH

Magistrate Brodsky's remarks in dismissing the charges against the men accused of attacking the Bremen's flag aroused more resentment in Germany than the original incident. From the first State Department officials felt they were in an embarrassing position, since they considered that Brodsky's actions were indefensible, from a diplomatic point of view, notwithstanding that the Federal government has no responsibility for, and no control over, state and municipal officials.

Hull pointed this out in his reply to Germany today. "I may explain that state and municipal officials are not instrumentalities of the Federal government," he said. He added "that the right of freedom of speech is well recognized by our fundamental law."

Notwithstanding these facts, however, Hull added:

"It is to be regretted that an official having no responsibility for maintaining relations between the United States and other countries should, regardless of what he may personally think of the laws and policies of other governments, thus indulge in expressions offensive to another government with which we have official relations."

SEVEN GUARDS HELD HOSTAGES ARE RESCUED

COSHOCTON, O., Sept. 14.—UP—After being held virtual prisoners in the novelty advertising company plant here for 35 hours by a hostile crowd of 300 strikers and sympathizers, seven company guards were escorted from the building by armed officers late today.

Tired and hungry, the guards marched from the plant flanked by Sheriff Jay Abbott, a deputy, and most of the city police force. The officers carried the guards' guns, a condition demanded by pickets in agreeing to the men's release.

FEW JEERS

The crowd of men and women made way for the officers and their charges. There were a few jeers but no attempts were made to molest the guards.

Quickly, the guards filed from a private detective agency, were borne away from the strike scene in police cars.

SITUATION IS GRAVE

As the strike situation became grave today, Common Pleas Judge J. C. Daugherty issued a temporary injunction against picketing.

The order prohibits pickets from gathering in groups of more than two, from interfering with reopening of the plant, and from arguing with or threatening employees or prospective employees of the company.

OFFICIALS SILENT

Company officials declined to comment but it was understood they planned to reopen the plant with non-union labor next week. The striking workers have charged violations of contracts, and have demanded wage increases, shorter hours and the right of collective bargaining.

The strike started August 28. Before attempting to lead the guards from the plant, Sheriff Abbott addressed the angry crowd outside, asking them to refrain from violence.

"It is my duty to take these men from the plant," he said. "I want to do it without starting any trouble."

President To Take Action In Coal Crisis

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—UP—A wage deadlock threatening a nation-wide soft coal strike Monday, went back to President Roosevelt for action tonight after a day of fruitless negotiations during which a presidential plea for extension of the deadline was rejected.

Assistant Secretary of Labor E. P. McGraw decided to appeal again to the President when it appeared to various union leaders that a strike next week was inevitable because of failure of the conference. Hope was still held, however, for a last minute agreement or delay. The president had sought in vain to extend for 15 days the operation of the mines without formality of new wage contracts and with an understanding that any wage agreement reached would be retroactive to Monday.

LITTLE HOPE IS HELD FOR PAIR IN DEATH PACT

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 14.—UP—The hope was held by surgeons here today for the recovery of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Abinanti, 2300 Bay street, who shot themselves in an asserted suicide pact last night. Their condition was critical.

Abinanti, 45, a grocer who conducted a establishment at 2000 Hayes street, had no previous criminal record. His wife, Pearl, 42, second party to the strange agreement, recovered consciousness and told her story to police.

"We could not get along," she said, "and my husband said we might as well be dead. I agreed to his proposal to take our lives." She said she and her husband drove to a flat he owns at 1322 York street and put the car in a garage there. She said Abinanti shut the door and left the motor running. "We waited for the gas to kill us," she continued.

Before the fumes got in their deadly work, the door was opened by John Roach, a tenant, who heard the motor running.

The couple left the place, drove to Hunter's Point and got out of the car.

Dismissing Boils Often Follow Lowering of Vitality in Patient's Body

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.

QUESTIONS from Mrs. W. D. R. and Miss H. S. K. called for this discussion of boils and pimples, and these readers want especially to ask: "What causes so many boils?"

That question has bothered humankind since Job grieved over the poison that drank up his spirit. Get out your Latin dictionary. There is the word you want. In that ancient language, the affliction was called "furuncle" and meant literally to rage or "to boil over." Boils are usually to be found where

No doubt, the immediate cause is the blocking off by congestion of some of the tiny glandular portions of the connective tissues. The bacteria which started the rumpus have chance and time to multiply, and presently there are too many to be overcome and controlled in any brief period.

Lowered Vitality Often Cause

There are, it is true, predisposing conditions, since any of the diseases that lower vitality may be followed by these distressing eruptions. This is only a proof of lowered powers of resistance, since bacteria of some sort is always about us seeking to invade our anatomy.

Once in a while, a sudden change of habitation, such as from inland to the seashore, or a change in dietary habits may be the forerunner of boils. Many an attempt at reducing by means of an eliminating diet will start a series of "humors" which are only an expression of nature's displeasure at the sudden upsetting of her regime.

The infectious nature of a boil is shown by the way it begins as a very touchy point, whose sensitiveness seems to reach every bone marrow. It takes nearly a week for this first hard, hot area to show a white soft spot, but once the process of breaking down of tissue and discharge of pus begins, the "boiling" is under way and stops only when the infection is overcome. It is even harder to remedy and control the deep seated suppuration, which after a time becomes chronic and returns again and again.

"Boiling" Held Back

The "boiling" is retarded, more tissue is involved and eventually a deep incision and cutting with the knife is the only recourse.

Sometimes these points of infection are so far imbedded that development is slow and they never do "come to a head." These are commonly referred to as blind boils. Every neighborhood has a favorite remedy for boils and every boy continues to be a law unto himself. The individual system must be renovated and toned up.

The infected area may need to be deeply incised to allow thorough drainage. Sometimes, if the modern boy has the bravery of his forefathers, a preparation of iodine used such as a drop of saturated iodine following a cleansing cut of the head of the boil.

Antiseptic is an adjective used both externally and internally. Boils often winter from antiseptic water used without absorption and will cause the pain, as will no jacket to decelerate the tissues.

Two or three years ago it was discovered that men who worked in car mines did not have these skin eruptions. A preparation of iodine of this was designed which has been quite acceptable for internal use.

PWA Building Program

The New York architect Albert Mayer, sums up the government's record on housing in the following terms: "Some 2,000 living units costing about $11,000,000 are either completed or nearly so. These are all the old limited-dividend enterprises, built on vacant land. Of the government building on slum land, construction has started on five projects—two in Atlanta, one each in Cleveland, Indianapolis and Montgomery—with some 3,100 dwelling units costing $12,000,000; and sites have been completely acquired and demolition is under way or completed in New York, Chicago, Milwaukee, Nashville, Indianapolis and Atlantic City on projects for 8,850 families costing some $2,000,000. Regarding a translation of these facts into completion dates: two years after the P.W.A. started its work 3,000 living units were completed. Three years later, another 2,100 will have been finished, and three and a half years later still another 8,850. Some time after that 14,000 more will have been finished."

Profiles For Today

A Matinee Idol Starts Peace Project

By TALBOT LAKE

A WORLD peace plan seriously expounded by an actor sounds impossible, and such an idea developed by a good-looking matinee idol whose chief scheme in life should be to make women admire him is fantastic. Yet here is Francis Lederer—he of the brown, swimming eyes, handsome profile, and charming accent—putting forth his new organization with which he hopes to make inroads on the four horsemen of war.

He maintains an office in Hollywood from which he directs the destinies of the movement. Only a year and a half old, it already has 100,000 followers in the United States and 500,000 in other countries. The World Peace Federation is a simple idea. It merely sends out cards asking the recipient to sign his name to signify his accord with the desire for universal peace. The testimony thus gathered represents the average person—the man-in-the-street—and Lederer hopes to impress the powers-that-be that the general public is against warlike attitudes on the part of their governments.

Lederer was a boy of twelve when the war was at its height. His older brother was killed, and he wanted revenge. He joined the army, even at that tender age. As he says:

"I was twice decorated for bravery. It all seems silly to me now. I braved artillery fire to bring men in the trenches their food. They could have waited half an hour to eat; many of them were going to be killed, anyway. So I got a medal. For that symbol of misguided patriotism you risk your life."

When he read the Treaty of Versailles he felt it planted the seeds of another war. It was then he evolved his plan, but he did nothing much about it until the time of the Manchurian crisis. Contacting members of different peace societies, he gained their interest and help.

When the Federation obtains ten or fifteen per cent of the population of each country, it will approach the rulers and show them the feeling of their people.

DRAPED BODICE

Copyright, 1935, by Fairchild.

A novelty suit with a slightly rough surface in a delicate shade of pink is chosen for an evening gown that introduces draped detail at the neckline at the front and at the back, a draped panel from shoulder to shoulder. Strass ornaments appear as trimmings.

Beauty Won If Cosmetics Match Gown

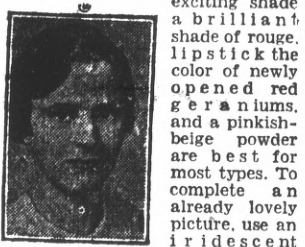

By JACQUELINE HUNT

IF YOU want to look your loveliest this fall frame your face in a halo hat, use cosmetics that make your brow as fair and smooth as alabaster and your skin rich with vibrant color.

Wear the softly-draped dresses and fur-trimmed suits that are being shown in every shop window. The warm, new Renaissance shades are flattering and different, but they deserve the right cosmetic ensembles to bring out their richness. Try on your cosmetics as carefully as you do your frocks.

You will find you can wear shades you never dreamed were possible before—rich, warm shades of red, green, brown, purplish blue for day—intense, yet soft, sunset shades of gold, coral, purple and turquoise for evening.

For the blonde or redhead, for instance, there is a beautiful new gold-green called Veronese, or by gold-green called Veronese, or by other romantic names. With this exciting shade blondes or black (for redheads) mascara.

One of the bright, powdery blues that has been stolen from old paintings is lovely for the fair-skinned brunette. With this shade you will need a delicate, peach-bloom powder, vivid rouge and lipstick with a rose undertone, silvery-blue eye shadow and black or evening blue mascara.

Another of the popular shades for daytime wear is Cellini bronze, which is really a dark brown shot with golden threads. This is a good color for either brunettes or the rather dark, golden-skinned blonde. Use the russet or terra cotta shades of rouge, lipstick and powder to give your skin added warmth. Blue-green or bronze eye shadow and black mascara give your eyes the proper witchery.

With the gold, coral and metallic gowns that are so lovely for evening be sure your powder gives your skin a delicate transparent quality. Some of the mauve and opalescent shades of powder especially blended for evening will give you the effect. Use a warm rose of clear red rouge and vivid lipstick. If you are the exotic type you might go so far as to experiment with the metallic eye shadow in bronze, gold or silver, but if you are doubtful use the iridescent shades.

Your lips should be dewy and bright, so choose your lipstick with care. Be sure that it is soft and creamy, and spreads smoothly. This need in no way interfere with its lasting quality, since most of the new lipsticks are of the "permanent" variety.

Beauty Tips

QUESTION: "My eyelids have started to form wrinkles, although I am quite young. I have been reading intensely this summer. Also, when I remove dead eye-lashes I think perhaps I pulled too hard on the lids. Do you think this could have caused the wrinkling? How can they be removed? How can the corners of the mouth be kept from looking dark? And can moles be removed any way besides plastic surgery?"—A Reader.

Pulling your eyelashes may indeed be the cause of the "wrinkles." The irritation may have caused a slight swelling of the lids which in turn made noticeable creases whenever you opened or closed your eyelids. But why remove dead eyelashes? If they are really dead they will fall out of their own accord. If they only look dry and frizzled on the tips, apply a little olive oil or eyelash grower with a tiny brush and see how pretty and glossy they will be in short order. Use the olive oil on the lids too. Eyestrain causes little lines to appear at the outer corners of the eyes and between them. You might check up on this matter, however, and get glasses if you need them.

Do not neglect the corners of your mouth when you give your face its daily cleansing. You might wash the lips after each meal too. Apply lemon juice to the dark areas and leave on overnight. Never apply lipstick all the way to the corners of your mouth, but keep it concentrated well toward the center of the lips and inside the natural line.

Moles can be removed with simple injections of acid that causes them to dry up and drop off. This should be done by a doctor, however, as different types of moles require different treatment.

Speaking of Styles

Bridge Frock, Quite Formal, Wins Stylists

By IRENE VAIL

New York—The hit of the season seems to be the bridge frock, the skirt of which clears the ground by the wide margin of nine inches. In some of the most stunning examples the bodice is cut high in front and to the waistline at the back. Designed to wear over the frocks are some charming boleros, usually of the dress fabric, but sometimes something more elaborate. You will find these little after-thoughts also in fur just for variety among the legions of capes in fur and other media. Persian lamb is top for such things and may indeed be so regarded for all manner of uses.

Several authorities are quoted as giving the costume suit with swag coat as the suit type of the moment. These are not all as sportlike as they sound. Fabrics and colors transform these suits, as do the blouses with which they are worn. In this connection it may be well to mention that, considering the season, navy is much in evidence. Navy is spring's own color, but in the blue-up for fall one finds it repeated often enough to deserve mention.

While any number of interesting colors have a sporting chance to win, the daytime favorite is black—all-black or black-with. Combinations promise to be best in street, rather than two colors. In hoping to convey a clear impression of the fashion situation I would be failing in my duty if I did not warn against a too-literal acceptance of the elaborated themes. After all, one must remain sane even in a mad, mad world of fashion, which is to say that the simpler things are still the best choice.

You are bound to like the new neck treatments, bringing strings and ropes, even festoons of pearls, again into play. Between necks bedecked with such things and belts flashing a message of the season the full season is not without its colorful accents, black though many of the dresses really are.

It is a year in which, not only you, but everyone else, will look to your waistline. It's because of belts, which never have been more important—or more deservedly so. They are always calling attention to themselves—and maybe to the handbag, sometimes the hat.

Modes and Manners

QUESTION: "How should a lady be introduced to a gentleman?"—L. O.

ANSWER: The gentlemen are always introduced to the lady. Say, "Miss Davis, this is Mr. Franklin." Don't ever ask a lady to cross the room to meet a man. Take the man to her.

QUESTION: "Is it a chauffeur's place to open the door and help his mistress out?"—I. B.

ANSWER: Such help from a chauffeur is not necessary unless one's mistress or master is ill or helplessly old. This is a job for a footman, and when there is no footman, master and mistress open the door of the car at their destination and alight without assistance. When they start out, however, the chauffeur stands at the door of the car and sees that the passengers are comfortable before he shuts it and takes his place at the wheel.

MODERN WOMEN

A Few Queries on the Polite Conduct of a Girl and a Boy

By MARIAN MAYS MARTIN

SOMEONE who signs herself M. M. writes me, asking so many questions that, instead of publishing her letter, I am going to enumerate her questions and try to put her straight about them.

First she asks: "Does a young girl think anything of herself if she goes to parties, bobs her hair, and goes to dances?"

I gather that she makes a distinction between parties and dances, meaning by parties such affairs as are given by friends in their homes, and by dances, and dances in dance halls, or a d. h. s., and so on. Just what bobbing her hair has to do with either isn't clear. Let's dispense with that first.

There is no earthly reason why a girl should not bob her hair if she thinks that short hair is going to improve her appearance or be a convenience. She certainly does not sacrifice her self-respect in cutting her tresses. There is no problem, moral or emotional, involved.

The Party Rights

About parties and dances. Both are well within the rights and privileges of a girl of party-going age, providing, of course, that they are given or frequented by the right sort of people. It depends entirely on the girl whether she loses her self-respect. If she feels that attending such parties or dances is jeopardizing it, she should by all means stay away.

"Should a girl go alone with a boy friend after night?" That's Question Number Three.

Chaperones are outmoded and no longer considered necessary for such occasions as an evening's entertainment. After all, what's the time of day got to do with the propriety of being "alone with a boy friend?" The sort of boy friend one should be alone with is he who makes no distinction between daylight and dark.

And Why Not?

Question Number Four: "If a boy loves a girl should he ask her to go to public dances?"

When a man really loves a girl it means, among other things, that she has aroused his protective instincts. And that means he is going to take care of her and of her reputation, in which case it is not likely that he is going to want her seen in any place that will reflect on her character. Most men are much more conservative than women and are sticklers for propriety—when it comes to their own women, by which I mean their mothers, sisters, sweethearts, or wives.

"Should a boy friend ask permission to see a girl if they are in love?" is the next question. Permission is hardly the word. He should, of course, find means of acquainting her of his plan, unless, of course, he is sure that she will be at home, in which case I hardly think he—an ardent lover—would hesitate to present himself at a reasonable hour. It never does any harm, no matter how great the intimacy, to telephone first.

Permitted is hardly the word. He should, of course, find means of acquainting her of his plan, unless, of course, he is sure that she will be at home, in which case I hardly think he—an ardent lover—would hesitate to present himself at a reasonable hour. It never does any harm, no matter how great the intimacy, to telephone first.

Don't Take Pills For Constipation

Ordinary pills taken to relieve constipation merely force a movement of the bowels without making the liver discharge its excess bile. That's why the trouble returns in a day or two and you have to swallow more pills. What every constipated person needs is a good liver tonic like Plantax to thoroughly cleanse the digestive system of all foul secretions and at the same time restore the torpid liver to proper working order. When this is done you will no longer have frequent headaches, coated tongue, yellow skin, sour stomach, gas, bilious attacks or other symptoms of constipation and liver trouble.

Plantax is made from the juices of harmless medicinal plants—Nature's own remedy—that act in a mild, easy way with no sickening or irritating effects. Try it tonight. Large bottle 35c. 25c good drug store.

Stock Market Is Irregular During Week

NEW YORK, Sept. 14. (UP)—A sales volume of almost 11,000,000 shares this week found the stock market adjusting itself to a piercing crash which for the year of longer.

In many respects the market was satisfied. The close today was irregularly lower, making the market in general on the week, but recalling the excellent gains last week and the spirited rise the week before, the easy adjustment compared with predictions of a sharp recession—unthinkable in the bull-rush in Wall street.

The Gov. Jones industrial average at mid-week pierced a new high since 1929, and the railroad average after making a new high in the first hour, Wednesday—was within a half area of the 1929 high at the Wednesday close.

No Trace Found Of Plane Lost For Four Weeks

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 14. (UP)—After a month and a half of searching rugged mountainous country, authorities today had ended their search for a two-engine biplane built for the army, in which Lieut. Arthur H. Barker disappeared on a test flight. It is thought Barker crashed at sea.

There is no evidence, they pointed out, to indicate that the ship had fallen into the hands of a foreign power. The ship, constructed secretly, and designed to fly 325 miles an hour, was reputed to be the world's most deadly person fighter.

CHICAGO, Sept. 14. (UP)—The Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America concluded its five-day convention today after voting to bar Communists from the union. The following amendment to the constitution was adopted:

Water Taxis To Gambling Barge Halted By Cops

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 14. (UP)—A string of water taxis operating gamblers to the Casino ship, Star of Hollywood, anchored off shore, was suddenly halted tonight after Superior Judge Arthur Westwell removed a local order that had held police helpless.

He dissolved his own injunction which had forbade interference with the traffic. He explained that he would not have issued the original order had he been in possession of information later supplied by the county prosecutor.

Four water taxi pilots are under arrest, with bail set at $200, awaiting trial Monday charged with violating county laws.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 14. (UP)—Scores were drowned today in the flooded Hwangho River. More than 250,000 persons were made homeless as 700 villages in Huashiao and Honan Provinces were inundated. Many of the deaths occurred at Weishan Lake where a sudden wind swept flood workers off dikes which they were repairing and rescuing.

INQUEST NEXT WEEK
The report will feature largely in the inquest next week at which Rogers and his companion at the shooting party that preceded the shooting, William J. Kelly of Union City, N. J., will be questioned. They are free on bail of $2,500 each on technical charges of suspicion of murder, although authorities are virtually convinced it was suicide.

Rogers, cut off in the $1,000,000 will of his father with a $500,000 trust fund, was in seclusion four days with his mother, Mrs. Mary Benjamin Rogers, divorced wife of the late multimillionaire. She hurried to West Chester as soon as the shooting on her son's estate, Indian Run farm, near Downingtown, Pa., became known.

NOT A SUSPECT
District Attorney William F. Parke of Chester county said: "We definitely do not suspect Rogers of murder. We found that Rogers, story and Kelly's devoted in every important respect, and Claude Ratin, the farmer who was in the house, Kelly and the daughter cook all agreed that Rogers was on the living room sofa at the time of the shooting upstairs."

"That's the important point. The little discrepancies don't count."

BODY IS VIEWED
Arrangements were made today by Henry J. Hoy, father of the slain singer to transport her body to St. Louis for burial. He is a manufacturer there. In complete control of himself since the tragedy, Hoy almost broke down when he reached the undertaking establishment in West Chester.

It was learned that the undertakers had permitted townsmen, women, children and even a troop of Boy Scouts to view the body.

Iceberg Theory Of Famed Savant Believed Proven

TAKU, Alaska, Sept. 14. (UP)—Father Bernard Hubbard, Santa Clara, Calif., "Padre of the Glaciers," today claimed substantiation of his theory that ice under terrific pressure will melt itself.

The "Glacier Priest" renowned for his studies of Alaskan volcanoes, said he substantiated his belief in detailed examination of the Taku Ice Caps.

His observations revealed that ice supposed to exist in thicknesses of 10,000 feet or more in polar regions was impossible, he said.

Father Hubbard is spending his eighth summer in Alaskan exploration. He is accompanied by a party of university students.

Fly Swatting May Determine Torres' Sanity

has not uttered a word for two months. Seated in a chair or reclining in bed, he keeps his eyes closed continually.

Although doctors and all nurses have not revealed their findings prior to submission to Judge Bras, it has been disclosed the prisoner shows little or no reaction to pin pricks into his flesh, pinching of his ears or fingers stuck in his eyes. Emaciated from his starvation attempts, he stands or lies motionless as tests are made.

If a hand is moved to a given position he will allow it to remain. One afternoon, it was reported, he secreted himself from Torres' view and watched him over a long period. A housewife reports on the prisoner's face, Torres is said to have promptly been led away with a hand.

While he reveals little reaction to pins, it is said, and will permit movement of his limbs, he resists when efforts are made to open his eyes and close them tightly.

Two court appointed alienists, Drs. Walter Rapaport of Napa state hospital and J. M. Scandland of Alameda are to submit reports to Judge Bras the first of the week. Torres has also been examined by defense attorneys and by alienists obtained by District Attorney Francis P. Healy.

Torres' attorneys demanded that the sanity of their client be determined before further proceedings toward trial.

Specializing in instruments for blind flying, was rushing to completion a four-story addition to its plant and was said to have planned a 70 percent increase in employment.

The Farrell Foundry and Machine Company, furnishing employment on a 55-hour-a-week basis, was reported to have shipped several carloads of munition-making machinery direct to the Italian government early this week. The pickup in business was said to have been greatest during the past ten days.

ARMS FIRM NIXES
Frank J. Green, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, declared "the first two weeks in September exceeded any other similar period in the past six years" for improved business.

Officials of all companies were non-committal as to whether war preparations in Europe lay at the bottom of the huge turnover.

At the Remington Arms Company, Bridgeport, one of the world's largest munitions factories, it was reiterated that no orders had been received either from Italy or Ethiopia, although Works Manager J. H. Chasmar recently intimated the company had been approached by representatives of foreign powers with regard to placing munitions orders.

WEST PLAINS, Mo., (UP)—A newspaper plant growing out of a brick wall here has aroused the curiosity of local people who are wondering when it gets its food supply.

In excess of $100 a month, all be evidence for such amount that those who receive a net income of less than $100 a month shall be exempt from the difference between their total net income and $100 a month, but, however, shall not apply to children between the ages of 16 and 21 years, whose parents have an income exceeding $100 a month for each member of the family between 16 and 21 years, in addition to a maximum of $100 a month for the remainder of the family. It shall likewise apply to veterans only up to such time as they shall have received a sum equal to, and in satisfaction of any bonus agreed to be paid to them by the government of the United States.

That each person receiving the said sums shall actually spend within the confines of the United States or its possessions, solely for their own use and benefit, the entire sum of $75 per month within 30 days from the date of its receipt.

That none shall be convicted of a felony, and that their future life shall be free from habitual criminality.

THE MONEY END

All of which has a very rosy tinge, it must be confessed, but then the old and troublesome proposition of financing again comes to the fore for solution. Barry, however, is not stumped any more than Dr. Townsend, although his idea of obtaining the coin is different than that of the physician. This "permanent cure for all time" solves the riddle in this fashion:

"Levy and collect an admission tax of $1,000.00 on each of the hundreds of thousands of aliens who enter the United States annually. (There was a yearly average of 213,000 for the past 10 years.) Levy a heavy tax on the tens of millions of dollars that foreigners send out of this country to their home people yearly. (In 1931 it was $172,630,000.00.) Levy a heavy tax on the hundreds of millions of dollars that tourists take out of this country annually to spend in foreign countries. (In 1932 it was $146,000,000.00.)

tax heavily the billions of dollars that are being invested in foreign securities annually. (Jan. 1, 1934, shows $13,999,000,000 invested in foreign securities.) Increase import taxes on trade and service items paid to foreigners for products similar to those produced here on a basis of hours of labor represented thereby, based on American wage standards. (In 1933 it was $2,272,000,000.) Place an additional surplus tax on the tens of millions of dollars laying idle in the banks for the purpose of forcing it into active circulation. Raise the balance of the money by a graduated tax on the wealth of the extremely wealthy, either by an income gift or inheritance tax."

COME IN SOMETIME

The next time Sheriff Miller comes to Richmond I would like to have him drop in for a chat. In an interview published during the past week in this bulletin, he said that if he could only account for three hours' time of the day Mrs. Ruth McCord, actual service department head was invited, that it would be an easy matter to locate the elusive lady. Perhaps I can dish out some information that will be of service to him in his quest.

Although I am no bloodhound at the game of tracking down criminals, it seems to me a clue would be furnished by discovering the identity of the party or parties who so generously settled the bills Mrs. McCord left behind when she shook the dust of Contra Costa county off her feet.

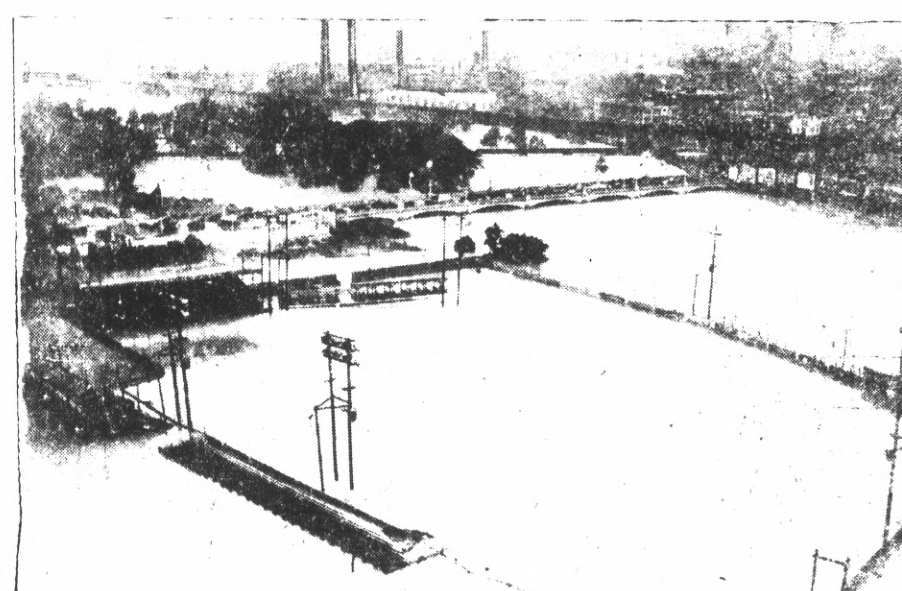

It is an established fact that Mrs. McCord was in more straits financially when she returned from Los Angeles to face the county inquisitors. She told friends that she was absolutely broke and was forced to borrow money in order to comply with the summons for her appearance. After she was dismissed from office and went to Los Angeles she left quite a number of bills behind a Martinez and these, I am told, have all been taken care of recently. It hardly stands to reason that he sent the money from her home place, for that would have disclosed her whereabouts, so some kind friend in Martinez must have performed the service for her. I would like to know the philanthropist myself, for I have a number of bills which some of my creditors would be very glad to accept, "paid in full." However, I have never been so lucky.

Prepares Funeral Pyres

FOR THE protection of those who survived the Florida hurricane, officials ordered the bodies of many victims cremated. Above is a scene at Snake Key as soldiers guarded an Emergency Relief Administration camp against intruders while war veterans prepared a trench in which the bodies of other veterans were to be burned. Arrow indicates a pile of plain board coffins containing the victims' bodies.

Flood Aftermath

McAdoo And Young Nurse Are Married

cles, which he left when he gave up the post of Secretary of the Treasury under President Wilson. In the richly furnished mansions along New Hampshire avenue and on the dance floors of hotels he has long been a familiar figure.

The wedding was attended by two sons and three daughters of his previous marriages and by men who have served with him in government halls.

CABINET REPRESENTED

In addition to Mrs. Claggett, his sons, Francis H., and Robert H. McAdoo of New York City, and his daughters, Mrs. Clayton Pratt of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Edward S. Cowles of New York, were present.

The cabinet was represented by Secretary of State and Mrs. Cordell Hull and Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. Daniel C. Roper.

Other guests of distinction included George Creel, Admiral and Mrs. Cary T. Grayson, President Wilson's physician, and Comptroller of Currency J. F. T. O'Connor.

GAY OCCASION

The ceremony was performed in the austere colonial living room, made gay for the occasion with autumnal flowers. A flying trip to California after a secret honeymoon, was planned, aviation being one of the mutual interests of the pair. McAdoo is president of the National Aeronautical Association and maintains a plane of his own.

The bride also is a flying enthusiast. Together they will fly to California, the home of both, to attend President Roosevelt's reception in San Diego when he arrives there for the exposition.

BRIDE WAS CITED

The bride, a Public Health Service nurse, cited for excellent service, but so demure and quiet that few knew of the romance, wore a blue crepe silk traveling dress. She carried a bouquet of Lilies of Valley and yellow for the bride.

The Senator noted for his immaculate dress wore the customary formal afternoon costume of cutaway and striped trousers.

DIVORCED LAST YEAR

The ceremony, held in the rolling hills of Prince George's county, Md., was a contrast to the brilliant wedding of McAdoo in 1914 to Eleanor Randolph Wilson, the daughter of President Wilson. That wedding was held in the brightly lighted rooms of the White House.

They were divorced last year. The romance which led to today's ceremony became known even to the Senator's own official staff only yesterday. He immediately went into seclusion. The bride also threw a strict cloak of secrecy about the event.

Only subsequently did the fuller details of the romance become public.

Criticism Of New Deal Job Program Grows

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—UP.—The New Deal's four billion dollar works program designed to end direct relief, was freed of internal strife tonight but it headed at once into a barrage of protests over curtailment of the original $900,000,000 PWA program.

WPA officials, carrying out terms of the "peace" arranged by President Roosevelt at Hyde Park, planned to return to the desk of PWA Administrator Harold L. Ickes about 8,000 PWA applications. Ickes will have a free hand in selection and revising them for his curtailed PWA program.

Protests over the president's announcement that he was cutting the scope of the PWA program in favor of more temporary job-giving projects under Hopkins came from states, counties and cities which had counted on a 45 percent Federal contribution to their non-Federal projects.

The Administration home to meet this criticism by rapid spending and temporary job-giving under Hopkins. The drive will be concentrated on larger cities and states having largest unemployment rolls.

Of 63,429 applications for California motor vehicle operator licenses in July, 3,201 persons failed to pass examinations.

Spry At 98

LIFE BEGINS at 98, opines Mrs. Jean Lawrie Hodgson of San Francisco, as she celebrated her birthday with one idea—it's never too late to learn. She recently fulfilled a lifelong ambition by learning to swim. Now she is enrolled in a part-time high school class and on her birthday her classmates gave her a party.

Twenty-five percent more persons applied for motor vehicle drivers licenses in California in July, 1935 than in the same month in 1934.

SHOW-DOWN DEMANDED BY LEAGUE

15 NATIONS ALLIED

Russia, the world's greatest military power, thus joined 15 other nations in opposition to Italy's aim, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Portugal, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Finland, Yugoslavia, Romania, Czechoslovakia, Canada, Ecuador, and New Zealand—all of whom have announced directly or through spokesmen of allied countries, their adherence to the League covenant.

The new world was added to the list when Gonzalo Zucumbide of Ecuador voiced the fact of the American nations in the League, mentioning its activities in the Chaco war and the Letitia dispute between Colombia and Peru.

SHOWDOWN NEAR

"My country reiterates her adherence to the covenant," he said.

When word came from Rome that Premier Benito Mussolini's cabinet had decided there can be no compromise, and that Italy will go ahead in Africa despite the powers, the Council's "conciliation" committee of five took steps for a showdown.

The committee decided to pin Mussolini down and find out what ultimate concessions, if any, would induce him to forego war. His refusal to consider concessions, no matter what their extent, would enable the committee to contend before the world that Italy has defied all peace efforts and goes to war deliberately to achieve her aims.

PREPARE QUESTIONNAIRE

The committee prepared a questionnaire to be submitted to both Italy and Ethiopia, asking what concessions Italy would demand and Ethiopia would grant, under a scheme for international control of the African kingdom, which the committee is drafting.

The questionnaire plan was understood to have arisen from the fact that Mussolini hitherto has declined to reveal his maximum claims against Ethiopia despite constant attempts of the British to make him state his terms for a peaceful settlement.

10 QUESTIONS

The questionnaire comprises from 10 to 12 questions. One deals with the establishment of an international police force in Ethiopia. It seeks to ascertain Italy's ideas regarding the size and organization of such a force, and the extent to which Italy would want to dominate it by a majority of troops.

Other questions deal with economic concessions, such as the establishment of monopolies in Ethiopia, presumably controlled by Italians, and also the problem of foreign advisers to the emperor and taxes and tariffs.

ETHIOPIA MAKES REPLY

GENEVA, (Sunday) September 15.—UP.—The Ethiopian delegation delivered to the League of Nations today its first reply to the Italian memorandum which accused Ethiopia of barbarity by launching strong counter charges against Western white civilization.

Ethiopia's answer asks: "What about countries which legally enslave, guillotine and hang?"

It also referred to the "inhumanity of lynching in New Orleans." The reply branded Italian charges as false and unjust.
